TWO AND TWO DO NOT MAKE FOUR

Straight Up-and-Down Curbing With Sharp Edge Compels Motorist to Drive Out.

TIRES ARE EASILY DAMAGED

Well-Rounded Curb With Sloping Surface Permits Car Owner to Park His Car Flush With Bottom of the Curbing.

"Do two and two always make four?"

This is not the prologue to a vaudeville wheeze, nor is it the opening wedge for an intricate and technical dissertation upon the ramifications of some such subject as integral calculus.

The answer as you may have expected is "No." The reasons—simple, logical and uncontrovertible truths based upon actual experiment. Any motorist who has suffered the torture of unexpected blow-outs on some lonely road, traceable directly to "stone bruises," "rim-cuts" or any other of the divers tire ills that come of too close association with the ancient sawtooth edged curbing, will rise in immediate defense of the statement once he reads the facts assembled.

For argument we will suppose that the street that fronts your home is 36 feet wide from curb to curb, and that the particular type of curbing used is straight up-and-down, square-cornered, and as is usually the case where this type is in use, sharp of edge.

Rounded or Sloping Face.

Going further in the process of argument we will suppose that this is replaced by a cement curb with a rounded or sloping face, graduating approximately two inches in from the road at the top and equipped with rounded corners.

Rounded Cement Curb.

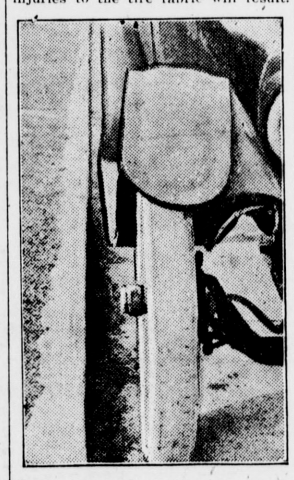
How much wider, then, would the effective surface of your street become with this change? "Four inches" you say, adding the two and two of each side. You're wrong.

The effective width of the street becomes increased at least 24 inches, and possibly three or four feet. Motorists will see the reason for this at once. No careful driver will squeeze his car close to a sharp-tipped, perpendicular curbing. He knows that disastrous injuries to the tire fabric will result.



Square-Cornered Curbing Is to Be Avoided.

In consequence he parks from six inches to a foot away from the curb. The serviceable width of the street is cut down just that many inches. If a car parks directly across the street, multiply the decrease by two.

A rounded cement curb with a sloping surface permits the auto owner to park his car flush with the bottom of the curbing. There is no possibility of injury to his tires, and the entire center of the street becomes effective for traffic.

Sharp Corners Dangerous.

Sharp corners make intersections dangerous for driving and the insanitary collection of refuse and dirt against the sharp curb wall is done away with. The first rain flushes the gutter immediately, and this sanitary feature of the sloping curb recommends it strongly to property owners.

Purpose of Oil.

The lubricating of the working parts of an automobile is to prevent any two pieces of metal that are working one against the other from touching. This is accomplished by having a film of oil between these two metals, and upon this film of oil depends the life of all the bearings, cylinders, pistons, rings, etc.

Inspect every part of the car at regular intervals; there is no part that cannot give trouble if neglected.

Actual construction of this curb has been so simplified by the development of efficient forms and simple methods that the cost usually is less than that of the old type. This is true whether the curb is made by the monolithic process, concurrently with construction of the street, in which event it is called "integral curb," or is placed with a gutter unit, after the street has been completed.

Added to the safety and economic appeal to the motorist, this type "sells itself" readily to the taxpayer through its permanence, lack of maintenance cost and beauty of design.

A 36-foot street may be 36 feet wide, or may be considerably less. The little 2-inch slope on the curved curb makes all the difference in the world. It might make the difference between life and death.

A rim-cut tire is a hidden menace. The motorist whose tires have suffered from curbing injury is riding over a volcano. He cannot see the breaking down of the interior fabric. He does not know it exists until the roar of the blowout comes as a belated warning.

"Two and two do not always make four."

LOCATE SOURCE OF RATTLES

Car Having Had Several Seasons of Wear Invariably Develops Irritating Noises.

The car which has had several seasons of use invariably develops squeaks and rattles from vibration and wear, and in many cases from lack of attention in oiling and in adjusting. To locate the sources of noise is a matter of systematic examination and testing, which should be done after all dust and mud have been washed away, nuts and bolts tightened, lubricating passages cleaned and the car thoroughly oiled and greased.

GRABBING CLUTCH TROUBLES

Car Is Jerked in Starting and Needless Strain Is Involved for Entire Mechanism.

Grabbing clutch trouble is the opposite of slipping. The clutch takes hold too suddenly, so that the car is jerked in starting and needless strain is involved for the entire power transmitting mechanism.

Grabbing is caused by too heavy spring pressure, by facings that have become rough and dry, by end play in the clutch shaft, by too tight an adjustment. The driver who jams in his clutch is quite likely to produce a grabbing action.

ADJUSTMENT OF AUTO DOORS

Wooden Wedges Placed Under Body of Car Will Remedy Trouble in Opening and Closing.

When the doors on one side of the body of an automobile do not fit properly, either binding so that they are hard to close or fit too loosely, with so much clearance that the catch will not snap, the trouble may be remedied by placing wooden wedges under the body of the car. Metal places may also be used. In either case, the wedge should be bolted through the frame so that it will remain firmly in place.

Testing Bearings.

The motorist is sometimes puzzled to know just what shape his bearings are in and does not know how to test them. Connecting rod bearings should be tested by tapping them very gently with a hammer and watching for play. For the crank shaft bearings, rock the shaft a little hard with petcocks open; if you can do this the bearings are all right.

AUTOMOBILE HINTS

Extra tires not in use on the car should be stored in a cool, dark, dry place.

For safety, economy and driving ease, all brake operating parts should be kept well lubricated.

Except for removing grease or oil spots, soap should never be used when washing the body of a car.

Are you sure that the universal joints are getting the attention and lubrication they deserve?

Soap and emery powder, mixed to a paste, is excellent for polishing unpainted metal parts of a car.

There is no hill too steep for an automobile to climb, if the car is in good condition and properly handled.

When swinging around a turn or in passing another car remember that the bumper protrudes several inches, and allowance must be made for proper clearance.

Don't leave your automobile standing under a tree that throws off a gummy substance, as it is hard to remove and may eventually spoil the paint on your car.

Tires of an automobile, when in good condition, use energy equal to about four horsepower, or a large proportion of the power of the car.

Do not forget that fiber washers should never be used in the fuel line or in any part of the engine where the gasoline can get at them. The action of gasoline upon the fiber washer has a tendency to make the motor run sluggishly by forming a deposit of minute particles from the fiber.

To eliminate rattles, squeaks and mysterious knocks, it is absolutely necessary that all nuts on a new car be taken up after 500 miles of driving, and again after 1,000 miles, and once a season from then on.

TESTING SKEW-ARCH BRIDGE

Reinforced Concrete Structure Erected to Find Means for Strengthening the Arch.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A reinforced concrete skew-arch bridge one-fourth the size of a full-size bridge has been built by the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture and is being "tested to destruction" to gain information that will make possible the building of stronger structures of this type.

There are many locations where it is necessary to carry a highway diagonally across a stream, engineers explain. Under such conditions it is customary to build what is known as a skew bridge, and when that bridge is an arch, the arch is known as a skew arch, the abutments or supports not being at right angles with the roadway. When the abutments are at right angles to the axis of the arch the structure is known as a right arch. Engineers can design right arches very economically, but there is a great difference of opinion with regard to the economical design of the so-called skew arch.

The principal difference of opinion among engineers is with regard to the manner in which the load is transmitted to the abutments. In the right arch the load on the abutments is the same for each foot of length, but on the skew arch this probably is not the case, and the important question to be settled is the distribution of the load from one end of the abutments to the other.

It was with this object in view that a series of tests has been started on skew arches by the bureau of public roads. At the present time the bureau has under way at its Arlington experiment station a test on a skew arch designed to be one-quarter the size of an actual structure. The arch being tested is 7 feet in span, 4½ feet in width from face to face, and 4 feet in height above the base of the abutments. The crown or midpoint is 2 inches in thickness and the barrel of the arch is reinforced with ¼-inch bars bent very carefully into the correct shape.

The arch is being tested with a uniform load and this loading is being accomplished in a unique manner, as follows: Forty-two spiral springs, each capable of carrying a load of 1,500 pounds, are placed at uniform intervals on top of the arch and each spring supports a 2-inch pipe, which in turn bears against a solid overhead structure. By adjusting the lengths of these pipes the springs are deflected and the amount of load applied to the arch may be controlled by the amount the springs are compressed. In this way it is possible to obtain fine adjustments in the amount of load applied without the necessity for piling on heavy weights. As the load is increased on the arch it deflects and the concrete and steel are deformed or strained, and the engineer wants to know how these strains are distributed.

For the measurement of strains in the concrete a device known as a strain guage is being used. With this device it is possible to detect strains with an accuracy of .0002 of an inch. By carefully measuring the strains throughout the arch it is possible to determine the manner in which the stress is distributed, and it is believed that through a series of such tests enough information will be obtained to enable the engineer to formulate rules for the economical design of skew arches.

In addition to determining the strains in the arch, the observations include measurements of deflection of the arch under load as well as a measurement of the stress in the tie rods between the abutments.

Good Roads Aid Health.

Good roads not only aid in the prevention of disease and the treatment of those already sick, but they are invaluable factors in the development and maintenance of good health.

Net Weight of Cement.

A standard bag of cement contains 94 pounds net weight of cement. Four bags constitute a barrel of 399 pounds. One sack of portland cement is equal approximately to one cubic foot.

Leads in Completed Roads.

Texas leads in miles of completed federal-aid roads with 1,733 miles. Minnesota is second with 1,416.

Miles of Rural Highway.

There are 2,500,000 miles of rural highway in the United States.

Way to Lose Tools.

If you don't want your tools and farm implements for next year, just leave them out in the open for the winter.

Where Best Corn Is.

The best corn is produced on strong, healthy stalks. For this reason seed corn should be selected from the field.

Sanitation of Hog Quarters.

Consistent use of concrete secures the highest measure of sanitation in and about all hog quarters.

POVERTY IN BRITISH CAPITAL

Returned Traveler Tells of Pathetic Cases to Be Seen on the Streets of London.

"We may have unemployment, strikes and dull times," said a man just returned from Europe the other day, "but we know nothing of the poverty common in European cities. I have noticed a curious practice in London, even in the best streets, which is significant. If you step into a taxi in London and the door slips out of your hand and swings open, there will always be someone to dart out of the crowd on the pavement and close it for you. In America one would merely say 'Thanks' or nod his head for this favor. The Londoner will instantly throw a penny to the man who shuts the door. The penny will be accepted and the recipient touches his cap in acknowledgment.

"The point is that in any street crowd in London, even in the best streets, there always seems to be someone on the lookout to earn a penny, often a man who shows signs of having known better days."

COULDN'T CALL HER PRETTY

Elevator Boy by No Means Blind to the Physical Defects of His Bride.

James, the colored elevator boy, has proved to the satisfaction of the Woman that love is not always blind. At least she gathered that from his description of the bride he had taken to himself during her recent absence. On one of her first days at home he announced to her, in some confusion, but with evident pride, that he "had done got married."

The Woman was all interest, as James had interested himself in her comfort, to which he had contributed greatly by various small attentions—so, after inquiring when and where the wedding took place, she said:

"And James, what does your bride look like. Is she pretty?"

"Wa'al, mom, she ain't to say exactly pretty. She's a ra'al low woman, don't skeercely come up to mah shoulder—'bout ginger-bread color, pop-eyed, an' rawboned."—Exchange.

Tuberculosis Reduces Average Life.

According to recent statistics prepared by the National Tuberculosis association, two and one-half years would be added to the life of each individual in the United States if tuberculosis were eliminated as a cause of death. During the past 17 years the death rate from the disease has been reduced exactly one-half, but there are still more than 1,000,000 cases of tuberculosis in the country. Tuberculosis workers, encouraged by the results of their efforts, are planning a more intensive campaign for the coming year in order to spread further education regarding the disease among the public, as it is their conviction that it can in time be entirely eradicated.

The traveler half froze on his sled when the search was for gold.

Now he rides in a steam-heated Pullman, prospecting for timber and crops. Not as much romance and adventure, but more comfort. The three never go together.

Problems in Agriculture.

The state agricultural experiment stations are studying 4,770 specific problems relating to the agricultural industry of the country. Broadly grouped, there are 1,960 projects dealing with agronomy subjects, including field crops, soils and fertilizers, or about one-third of the total; 932 botanical and horticultural problems are under investigation; animal industry subjects, including dairying and dairy products, comprise about one-eighth of the total, leaving three-eighths of the projects for all other subjects.—Mississippi Valley Magazine.

The young lady came up with a sniff. "Well, do you know," she said, "I thought I smelled something as I was walking up the hill."—Boston Transcript.

More Ambiguity.

"Well, what did you think of the prohibitionist lecturer?"

"His speech was very spirited."

There are occasional moments in every old bachelor's life when he is glad he never married.

"Well, if you never had a mammy and daddy, how did you get here?"

"Ah dunno, suh. Fust time Ah knowed anything, Ah wuz here."—Los Angeles Times.

Hair Cuts in Automobile.

Automobile barber chairs have recently been installed by a large Brooklyn department store to interest youngsters in having their hair cut.

This chair is a miniature of a genuine automobile even to the lever on the inside to open the door. There is a brake to regulate the mechanism in lifting or lowering the chair to the desired height, and an adjustable steering wheel. It contains foot rests that may be extended or contracted for short or long legs and seats gorgeously upholstered in bright leather.

The body of the car bears a name plate, and the youngster has only to express his or her choice to be led to a Rolls-Royce, Paige, Hudson or even a flivver.

John D.

A sophomore, suspected of being radical, remarked while dining ("dining" is used euphemistically) at the cafeteria at the University of Chicago that it was funny having a bust of John D. Rockefeller, the world's most famous dyspeptic, watch proceedings from a mantel there. "Maybe it's to pour oil on troubled waters," he said. It is reported that the young upstart was ordered confined to his room pending arraignment on a charge of treason.—Chicago American.

Its Body Is as Sturdy as Its Chassis

Lasting satisfaction with a closed car depends not only upon the dependability of the chassis but upon the durability of the body.

In the Special-Six Sedan, Studebaker offers an admirable co-ordination of these vital requirements.

Stop in at our showroom and see this Sedan. Stand off and get a three-quarter view of it. Note its striking beauty. Step inside and relax in the nine-inch seat cushions. Note the great roominess and the completeness of the equipment.

Take a ride behind its 50-horsepower motor. Try the wheel yourself. Put it to any test—every test. Try its accceleration, speed, power. Ask yourself if you ever handled a car that steers so easily—that responds so satisfactorily with just what you want, when you want it.

The body is a product of Studebaker skill and craftsmanship which have been developed through more than two generations of vehicle building. Highest grade of materials and workmanship have produced a body as beautiful as it is enduring.

This Sedan is a good investment because of the saving in the initial outlay and the moderate cost of maintenance. The price is possible because Studebaker builds three distinct models with only one manufacturing and marketing cost and because middlemen's profits are virtually eliminated.

The name Studebaker stands for stability of body as well as chassis.

Four doors that swing wide open. Heater. Automatic windshield wiper. Rear-view mirror. Beaded radiator. Courtesy light. Jeweled eight-day clock. Cowl ventilator. Thief-proof transmission lock. Rain visor. Opalescent corner lights. Massive headlights. Artistic coach lamps. Simple automatic window lifts raise or lower plate-glass windows.

BATTLE WITH MOONSHINERS

Three "Dry" Agents and One Outlaw Slain

BATTLE LASTS A WEEK

Five Prisoners Taken—Gang Makes Last Stand In Cabin Against Score Of Picked Men.

Lexington, Ky.—Federal prohibition agents returned from Menifee county, scene of intermittent skirmishes since last Saturday that have resulted in the death of three Federal agents and one moonshiner, with one or more prisoners.

A posse of 20 agents returned from the hill country with five prisoners. Robert Ballard, reputed leader of the outlaws, was shot to death. Guy Cole, the third government man killed, fell in battle. Charles Ballard, brother of the slain leader, was wounded, but escaped.

Members of the outlaw band captured by the posse were: Jeff Ballard, father, and Albert Ballard, brother of the slain leader; William Ferguson, Joseph Clem and Elwood Riffee.

The smashing of the "Ballard Gang" by the Federal officers followed a week of hill-country camping, marked by three spectacular gun battles.

The drawn-out battle was inaugurated last Saturday, when Agent R. E. Duff was shot to death while leading a party of raiders against a cave used by the outlaws as a still site.

The following day a large posse of Federal agents and deputy sheriffs went into the hills, but returned after David Treadway, deputized by the Federal authorities, was slain by a bullet fired by a hidden rifleman. The large posse was disbanded following Treadway's death, and the Federal operatives adopted "under cover" methods to locate their men.

A picked force of 20 agents moved upon a cabin where the Ballards had taken up headquarters. The ensuing fight at the cabin was the last stand of the outlaws.

Agent Cole fell before the fire of defenders, but bullets from high-power rifles in the hands of the attacking party ripped through the walls of the cabin, killing the outlaw leader and wounding his brother. Covering his retreat with his rifle, Charles Ballard was successful in eluding pursuit. Whether his wound was sufficiently serious to retard his flight from immediate vicinity of the fight was not determined.

IN FAVOR OF GRAIN GROWERS.

World Wheat Situation Observed By Commerce Department.

Washington.—The world wheat situation would indicate a condition slightly favoring the producer, according to Department of Commerce officials, who base their observation on reports from all parts of the globe. The world "balance sheet" on wheat stocks does not bear out the belief, it was said, that there will be a larger overstock of wheat next July than there was in July of this year. Improving conditions abroad would seem to mean that purchases of wheat would increase.

GASOLINE PRODUCTION HIGH.

Output For October Is Given As 566,278,689 Gallons.

Washington.—Gasoline production in the United States during October amounted to 566,278,689 gallons, according to the Bureau of Mines, which said the total was the greatest for any month on record, except last July, when 3,400,000 more gallons were refined. The October total was about 30,000,000 gallons greater than the September production and 28 per cent. greater than the total for October, 1921.

INDIANAPOLIS WOMAN NAMED.

Miss Adelaide Baylor New Chief Of Home Economics Division.

Washington.—Appointment of Miss Adelaide S. Baylor, of Indianapolis, as chief of the division of home economics, was announced by the Federal Board for Vocational Education. Miss Baylor succeeds Miss Anna E. Richardson, who is leaving the service to accept appointment as dean of the school of home economics in the State Agricultural College, at Ames, Iowa.

ARMY POST'S NAME CHANGED.

Columbus Barracks Becomes Fort Hayes.

Washington.—The Army Receiving Station at Columbus, Ohio, known for many years as Columbus barracks, will be designated in the future as Fort Hayes—in honor of Rutherford B. Hayes, nineteenth President of the United States—the War Department announced. The order effecting the change was signed by General Pershing as chief of staff.

PITNEY TO RETIRE SOON.

Will Quit Supreme Court About January 1, Daugherty Says.

Washington. — Associate Justice Mahlon Pitney, of the Supreme Court, will retire about January 1, under the provisions of the resolution recently passed by Congress, Attorney-General Daugherty said. President Harding, Daugherty indicated, will not nominate Pitney's successor until the Senate has finally acted on the nomination of Pierce Butler.

BISHOP NAMED SENATOR

Trent Prelate Chosen For Seat By Mussolini.

Rome.—Premier Mussolini has included among the new Senators Mgr. Endrici, Bishop of Trent, who, if the Pope consents, will be the first Catholic prelate to sit in the Italian Senate since the Vatican's fall from temporal power in 1870. Another new Senator is General Debono, Director-General of Police.

The post of Governor of Tripoli has been offered by Signor Mussolini to Dr. Italo Balbo, one of the three chief commanders of the Fascisti militia.

AMERICAN SHIP INCOME ANALYZED

National Bureau of Economic Research Gives Figures

COSTS JUMPS WITH TONNAGE

Comparison Shows Wages And Salaries Made Big Strides—Big Jump In Tonnage.

New York.—An analysis of income derived from transportation by water was issued by the National Bureau of Economic Research of this city. The investigation was made by Dr. Willford I. King as a part of the general investigation of income in the United States, upon which the research staff of the Bureau, under Dr. Wesley C. Mitchell, has been engaged for the last two years. It is timely because of the discussions in Congress of the ship subsidy measure.

Comparisons of the tonnage afloat of the American merchant marine with the population of the continental United States for each of the 11 years from 1909 to 1919, inclusive, show that the tonnage per capita was almost imperceptibly declining in the first five years of this period, with its lowest ebb in 1914. A moderate increase in 1915 and 1917 was followed by a large growth in 1918 and a tremendous expansion in 1919.

The period which began in 1909, when the country, with a population of 90,370,000, had 7,388,755 tons afloat, closed in 1919, with a population of 104,847,000 and 12,907,300 tons afloat, tonnage per capita having increased from .0818 to .1231 in the 11 years.

The increase in the tonnage per capita was coincident with a marked gain in the economic welfare of shipping employees. The average earnings in current dollars rose from $773 in 1909 to $1,532 in 1918.

While the total share of the value product of the industry received by operators and investors was increasing from $34,305,000 in 1909 to $85,230,000 in 1918, the total share of the value product paid to employees in the form of wages and salaries was jumping from $173,200,000 to $421,200,000.

The number of men actually at work on the vessels of the American merchant marine increased from 189,200 in 1909 to 222,200 in 1919, while the estimated average annual earning of all employees on vessels of the merchant marine rose from $901 in 1909 to $2,152 in 1919.

Operation of the merchant marine vessels also gives work to a large number of persons on land.

TWO MORO OUTLAWS KILLED.

Five Members Of Constabulary Detachment Wounded.

Manila, P. I.—Two outlaws were killed and five constabulary soldiers were wounded when a band of 15 Moros attacked the constabulary detachment on Secuban Island in the Sulu group, it was announced in a telegram received at constabulary headquarters here. The Moros were repulsed and the entire company of constabulary pursued them into the mountains.

PIPE IN SERVICE 44 YEARS.

Texan Estimates He Has Smoked Ton Of Tobacco.

Sherman, Texas. — William Pitts was the recipient of a meerschaum pipe as a gift from a friend in 1878. He has been a constant devotee of the weed ever since, but has never permitted another pipe to touch his lips. He believes that he holds the long-distance record. He estimates he has smoked about a ton of tobacco in the one pipe.

JUSTICE PITNEY RESIGNS.

Has Been Ill And Will Retire With Full Pay.

Washington.—Associate Justice Pitney, of the Supreme Court, sent his resignation to President Harding, to take effect January 1. Justice Pitney has been ill for some months and is permitted to retire with full pay by a special act of Congress recently approved by the President.

BANDITS FREE MISSIONARY.

Chinese Outlaws Still Hold Three Other Americans.

Peking.—Anton Lundeen, of Newman Grove, Neb., a missionary who was kidnapped by bandits in Honan Province October 13 last, has been released. Three other Americans are still being held captive and the diplomatic corps here has appointed a commission which will start for Horan Province Thursday to negotiate their release.

URGES U. S. TO CANCEL DEBTS

Premier Bonar Law Paints Gloomy Picture

RETURN TO BALFOUR NOTE

Germany Near End—If It Recovers, Says Law, It Will Be Better Off Than England.

London.—Premier Bonar Law in an important statement in the House of Commons declared frankly for the policy of the Balfour note, which advocated an adjustment of inter-Allied debts by an all-round cancellation, England on her part surrendering her share of reparations to be paid by Germany. Thus the Prime Minister indicated that the new Government, despite its first delaration that the Balfour note no longer existed so far as the present British Government was concerned, and that it would not consider itself bound by it, feels impelled to the same policy as the previous Government.

The remainder of Mr. Bonar Law's speech was clearly addressed to both France and the United States — to France, a plea for moderation in dealing with Germany on the ground that that country is already on the verge of collapse; to America, a call for help and co-operation in settling the different problems of reparations and inter-Allied debts.

Another important phase of his speech was the dark picture drawn of England's economic and industrial future, should the much hoped-for improvement in trade not materialize.

The Prime Minister showed the utmost anxiety that there should be no misunderstanding British feeling towards both France and the United States, and said that it was only England's difficult position he was making clear. England was burdened with very heavy taxation, which was a clog on industrial enterprise, resulting in terrible unemployment — a problem that made it necessary first that there should be no military occupation of German territory, which would still further handicap European trade without producing results in cash, and, second, compelled him frankly to face the fact that England was unable to pay the American debt if she received nothing from Europe.

Strong points in the speech were the unfairness of the view that because England had made sacrifices to pay her way she should be expected to pay her debts, while others who had made no such sacrifices escaped, and the warning that too sudden deflation in Germany might produce there all the evils of unemployment from which other countries are already suffering.

"If Germany ever does recover," he added, "she will be in a far better position to pay these indemnities than we should be to pay our debt to America. That is a fact."

Pointing out that the result of the most terrible misfortune for Germany, namely, the destruction of her middle classes, has been that Germany's internal debt was wiped out, the Premier said: "If the Germans ever do recover, they will be free from that terrible burden of internal debt that falls on us."

"They are sure to recover some day," he continued, "and the sole problem for consideration is how we can get a legitimate debt paid whilst doing the least possible injury to the rest of the world and to Germany."

In the subsequent debate the most noteworthy contribution was by James Ramsay MacDonald, the Labor leader. Mr. Lloyd George also spoke, but confined himself to brief expression of complete approval of Mr. Bonar Law's speech.

NURSE BURNED TO DEATH.

Montreal Apartment House Destroyed By Fire.

Montreal.—Miss Eva McGinnis, a trained nurse, lost her life in a fire which destroyed the Corinthian apartments. Nine families had narrow escapes from the fire, which originated in a basement explosion of unknown origin. A snowstorm and near-zero weather hampered the firemen. The damage was estimated at $150,000.

SHOT MESSENGER, TAKE $20,000.

State Police Pursuing Thugs Who Escaped In Auto.

Philadelphia.—Five bandits shot and slightly wounded Harry McKee, a messenger of the First National Bank, of Darby, a suburb, and robbed him of $20,000 he was carrying. The thugs escaped in an automobile. State police are pursuing.

KILLED GOING FOR TREE.

Cumberland Youth Hurled Beneath Freight Train.

Cumberland, Md.—Edward Walker, 21 years old, a miner of Blaine, W. Va., on the Western Maryland Railway, 45 miles south of here, while on his way to secure a Christmas tree, fell from an eastbound Western Maryland freight train at Gleason, three miles from his home, and was killed. Walker lived with his mother.

100 MEN KILLED OR HURT.

Explosion Wrecks Sugar Mill At Camaguey, Cuba.

Havana. — One hundred workmen were killed or injured in a boiler explosion which wrecked the Estrella Sugar Mill, near Camaguey. Thirteen bodies had been recovered up to 7 o'clock and 40 injured persons were being cared for in Camaguey. Most of the victims are Spaniards.

BROTHERHOODS TO UNITE

Locomotive Engineers And Locomotive Firemen And Enginemen Form.

Cleveland.—Plans were stated for amalgamation of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, two of the big transportation unions.

The combined memberships, according to present plans, will be known as the Brotherhood of Locomotive Enginemen.

A joint committee of both unions opened sessions here to devise methods by which the insurance and assets of the organizations can be successfully merged.

GOVERNORS AT DRY LAW MEETING

Conference Brought Out "Many Reports"

MODIFICATION IGNORED

Warmly Rebukes Allen — Declares Maryland Will Not Stand For Sectional Tyranny Of Kansas.

Washington.—Problems of prohibition enforcement were discussed informally at a White House conference between President Harding, the Federal departmental chiefs directly interested in the subject and governors of 14 States.

There was no statement from the White House as to the results of the meeting, but it was indicated that the discussion revolved almost entirely upon the question of how the several States could best co-operate with the Federal Government in executing the terms of the prohibition amendment. It was indicated that another meeting of State executives might be called early in the coming year at which time the subject would be canvassed more thoroughly.

At the White House luncheon, during the course of which the views of the guests were sought on prohibition were, in addition to the President: Vice-President Coolidge, Attorney General Daugherty, Secretary Mellon, Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, Governors Cox, Massachusetts; Ritchie, Maryland; Trinkle, Virginia; Hartness, Vermont; McCray, Indiana; Kilby, Alabama; Hyde, Missouri; Preus, Minnesota; Olcott, Oregon; Allen, Kansas; Morgan, West Virginia; McKelvie, Nebraska; Davis, Idaho, and Campbell, Arizona.

"In many cases," Commissioner Haynes declared after the meeting, "the reports of the governors were of an encouraging nature. Numerous instances of lack of co-operation were pointed out; many instances of the inadequacy of Federal forces were suggested.

"There was a preponderance of an opinion that an earnest official appeal for reverence of the law and a cordial support of law enforcement by the press would combine to cure the worst conditions reported."

According to some of those who attended there was no suggestion raised during the three-hour conference which indicated belief that the situation might be helped by loosening the present stringent enforcement statute. To the contrary, it was said, the prevalent opinion seemed to have been that imposition of more severe fines and prison terms on conviction of violation would assist the enforcement officials in their work. Other suggestions, all of which were declared later to have been "entirely informal," included a more careful selection of prohibition personnel, larger appropriations for the Federal Bureau and education of the general public to the necessity of law reverence.

WOOD RESIGNATION ACCEPTED.

Trustees Of U. Of Pa. Fail To Name Successor To General.

Philadelphia.—The board of trustees of the University of Pennsylvania accepted the resignation of Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood as head of the institution.

Randall Morgan, chairman of the board, was directed to send a cablegram to the General saying "the trustees of the university profounding regret your decision, but, realizing its finality, bow again, as they have in the past, to the public duty which you have always properly regarded as of first importance."

No action was taken by the trustees on a new provost. Dr. Josiah N. Penniman will continue to act in that capacity until one is selected.

TWO WOULD ENTER LEAGUE.

London.—Two nations of the Old World are to be taken into the League of Nations at a special session of the assembly. The Irish Free State and Turkey having applied for admission, the League council plans to call a meeting of all nation members the latter part of January, when these two will be admitted.

MILLIONS ASKED FOR NEW ROADS

Increase Of $32,300,000 Recommended In Supply Bill.

Washington. — Increased appropriations of $32,300,000 for new road building were recommended in the annual Agriculture Department Supply bill reported to the House by the Appropriations Committee. The appropriation for new road work in the agricultural bill for the current fiscal year was $10,000,000, as compared with $42,000,000 for next year.
